

The department has a well equipped lab with five desktop computers, providing students with ample resources for their projects and practical. Additionally, there is one laptop designated for teachers, ensuring seamless integration of technology into teaching practices. With two bookshelves available, students have access to a diverse range of resources for academic enrichment. A notice board serves as a platform for important announcements and updates, keeping everyone informed. Moreover, two almirahs provide storage space for educational materials and equipment. Lastly, a whiteboard facilitates interactive learning and collaborative discussions within the lab environment.