Subject Matter in Brief: Cost Accountant as a Career for Future. The main points were discussed in the seminar: Entry level requirements in the course to become a CMA. The career of a Cost Accountant is quite prominent due to its inclusion of various roles such as Finance management, analysis, business development, etc. People who have a passion for any of these roles and attributes successfully end up becoming a Cost Accountant. There are also other options available for Cost Accountant by taking up a teaching profession for the same, becoming a recognized author for books and materials related to Cost Accounting, etc. Cost accountants might work for accounting or consulting firms, or they might work directly for corporations in the retail or manufacturing sectors. But regardless of work environment, accurate cost accounting enables a company to reduce financial waste and increase profit.

PROGRAM NAME: ONE – DAY SEMINAR FUTURE TRENDS AND CAREER OPPORTUNITIES IN REMOTE SENSING AND GIS

One Day Seminar On Future Trends And Career Opportunities In Remote Sensing And GIS

Date: 27.02.2023

Time: 11:30 am

Venue: DumDum Motijheel Rabindra Mahavidyalaya

Resource person: Dr. Mehbub Sahana, Lecturer in GIS in the Department of Geography at The University of Manchester, UK.

No. of participants: 100

Organised by: DumDum Motijheel Rabindra Mahavidyalaya in collaboration with Prasanta Chandra Mahalonbis Mahavidyalaya

Subject matter in brief: People have always realised that the understanding of a spatial situation of things distributed on the earth's surface becomes easier through maps. So even in the early days of exploration of resources, making of maps was felt necessary. With advancement of technology, map making has largely been entrusted upon remotely sensed data. Procurement of data through satellites and converting the same into hard and soft copies of maps through GIS packages is the practice of the day. REMOTE SENSING is now using variety of more advanced scanners, such as MSS, hyper spectral and ultra spectral scanners, the size of electronic data storage systems is getting reduced. Now a day, RS and GIS has been an expandable industry which contains more opportunities and greater scope of uses.

Dum Dum Motijheel Rabindra Mahavidyalaya and Prasanta Chandra Mahalonbis Mahavidyalaya jointly organized a special lecture followed by an interactive session in the college seminar room on 27th February, 2023 during 11.30 a.m-1.30 pm, to cast light on the prospects of Remote Sensing and GIS in our day to day lives. Around 97 students from different colleges e.g. Rani Birla college, Sarada Girls college, P.N Das college, Budge Budge college, Sarojini Naidu college etc. and all faculties from different departments of DDMRM and PCMM have assembled in the college seminar hall and actively participated in this event.

The program started with a welcome speech delivered by Smt. Somali Roy Chakraborty (Faculty of Department of Geography, DDMRM), who talked about the various prospects of Remote Sensing and GIS and the advancement of technologies in modern fields of Geography with the progress of time. The members present on the dais were Sri Subhabrata Bhattacharya Teacher- in-Charge DDMRM, Sri. Diptendu Simlai, Convener, Career & Counseling Cell, DDMRM and Dr. Mehbub Sahana, the Eminent Speaker for this event.

Prof. Sahana gave a very informative and embracing speech on recent technological upgradation through the gradual rise of Remote sensing Era and its future prospects in Geographical fields. He highlighted the gradual increase in computer power, transmitting power of active systems and increasing tunability of systems. He stressed on the various applications of Remote sensing i.e analysing the conditions of rural roads, Land use Land cover mapping, Agriculture Monitoring, Observing climatic changes etc.

He also talked about recent day GIS technologies playing pivotal role in optimizing city infrastructure, managing resources and enhancing overall urban living. His speech about GIS helping in modern day scientific investigations, Resource management and Developmental planning motivated and enriched the students a lot and led them to a better understanding of the scopes and current opportunities of GIS in their career.

His commendable speech was followed by a live interactive session, where Dr. Sahana interacted with the students and entertained all of their questions. The program ended with the vote of thanks delivered by Dr. Suchita Dutta, Faculty of the department of Geography, DDMRM.
